Dr. Edward C. Halperin will present

“This is a Christian institution and we will tolerate no Jews here”: The Brooklyn Interns Hazing Episodes

Anti-semitism in U.S. medical education rarely flared into acts of violence, except in Brooklyn. Presenting the results of recently completed research, Dr. Halperin will describe the assaults on the Jewish interns of Kings County Hospital in 1916 and 1927 and the implications of these assaults for the contemporary debate on immigration and higher education.

Dr. Edward C. Halperin, M.D., M.A.
Dr. Halperin is Chancellor and Chief Executive Officer at New York Medical College and Professor of Radiation Oncology, Pediatrics, and History as well as Provost for Biomedical Affairs at Touro College.

MONDAY, MARCH 7, 5:30 PM
Holsti-Anderson Family Assembly Room
Rubenstein Library, Duke University

Contact (919)684-8549 for details

Sponsored by the History of Medicine Collections in the David M. Rubenstein Rare Book & Manuscript Library